

REPRODUCTION

Review the reproduction lab or your textbook and answer the following question:

Name the male gonad and where it is located. What type of gametes does it make?

Name the female gonad and where it is located. What type of gametes does it make?

Where does fertilization of the egg take place in the female reproductive tract?

Where does development of the embryo take place?

Review your lab or text and answer the following questions:

Besides abstinence from sexual contact, what can prevent the spread of STD's?

List three types of contraception in order from most effective to least effective:

Most effective:

Moderately effective:

Least effective:

Review your lab or text and answer the following questions:

What are the three general kinds of pathogens that can cause STD's?

1.

2.

3.

Which of these is curable?